

John Jentzer

New ACBL Bronze Life Master

After retiring 5 years ago, John and Carolyn, his wife, returned to bridge after a 30 year hiatus. The warm welcome he received from the St. George bridge community immediately rekindled his love of duplicate bridge. It was fun! John's enthusiasm for duplicate bridge, in turn, was rewarded with offers to play, instruction, and later become a mentor. As his skills and confidence grew he was asked to play with other improving players in tournaments. What an opportunity!

Slowly, John found bridge partners with styles and personalities that meshed with his. They traveled to tournaments with the goals of winning gold points, having fun and eating well. His goal of becoming a Life Master was realized at the 2017 Salt Lake City Regional. Afterwards, many of his St. George Friends and his new friends at the tournament offered him congratulations. What a nice feeling from a classy group of people.

My advice to others: Have fun....Surround yourself with good people.....Enjoy the journey.
